GOVERNMENT WINS SUIT AGAINST STANDARD OIL

RACING SEASON OPENS WITH ORAL BETTING

Carroll Cook, Acting for California Jockey Club, Declares System Legal in New York Will Be in Vogue

Undaunted alike by a season of legislative rebuffs, and a most inhospitable reception by the elements, the hardy thoroughbreds returned to Emeryville this afternoon and sported his silks through a drizzling rain, and fetlock mud deep in the first six races of the winter season. A very meager crowd of racegoers braved the bad weather to participate in the welcome home.

The attitude of the California Jockey Club toward bookmaking was voiced prior to the first race by Attorney Carroll Cook, who addressed a company of men in the betting room. He announced that he, in conjunction with Henry Ash and M. C. Chapman, have been retained by President Thomas H. Williams to provide ball for, and attend to the defense of all persons who are arrested on the race track for doing anything which has been held legal by the courts of New York State.

AS TO ORAL BETTING. Cook said that oral betting had been declared legal in the empire state, and that the same construction would be placed upon it by the California court. He said further that the jockey club would not defend anyone who violated the law in any way, judged by the constructions placed upon it by the New York court.

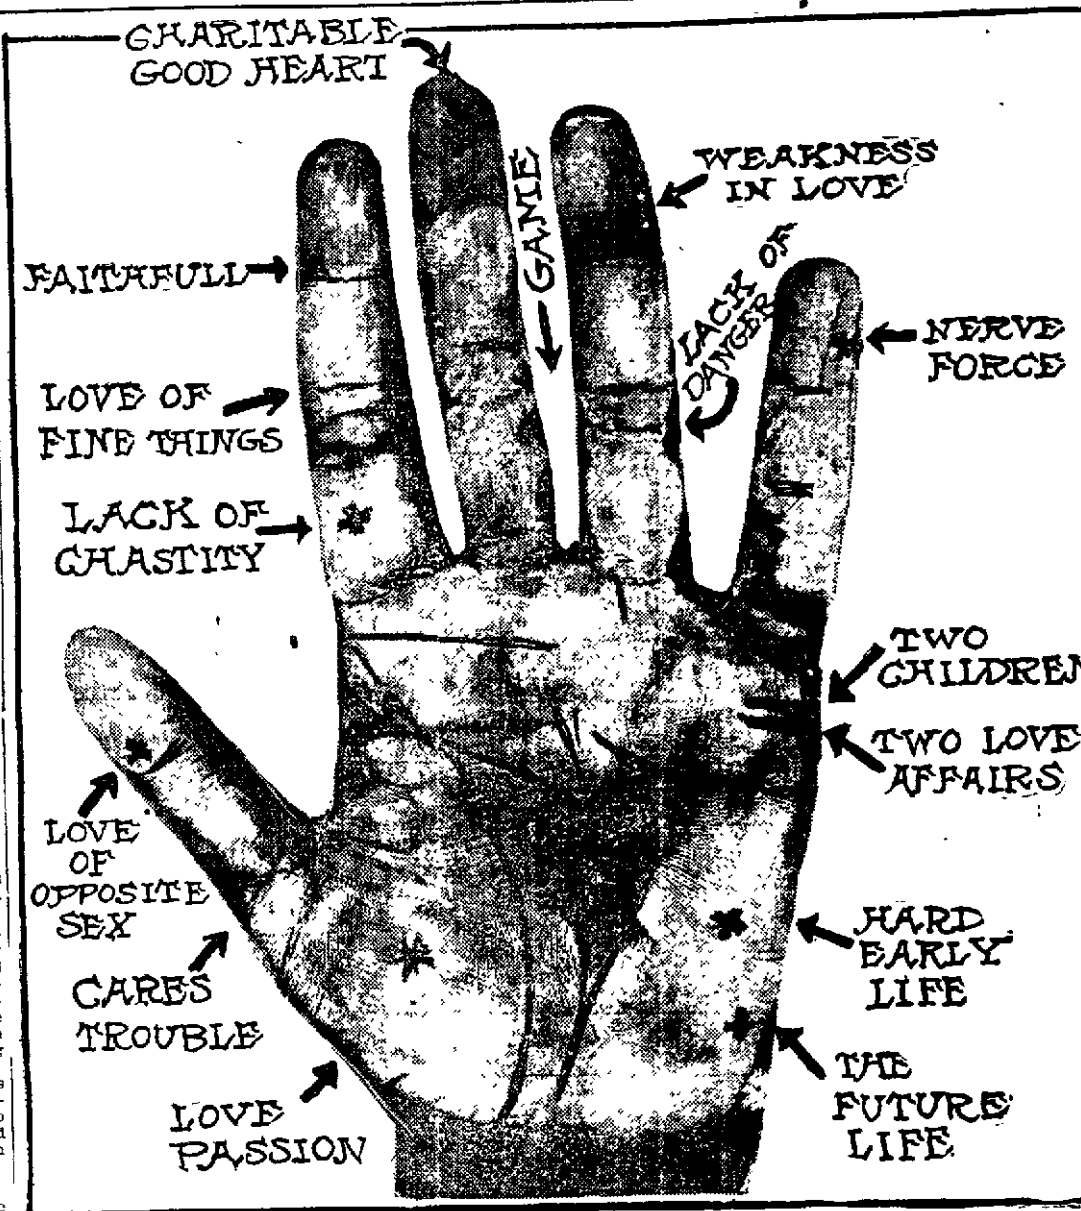

The race course was placarded with announcements posted by the jockey club to the effect that neither bookmaking or pool-selling would be tolerated within the limits of the race course.

Immediately after Judge Cook had concluded his remarks a half dozen layers started in to accept wagers under the oral system of betting. There was a fairly brisk play on the first race, and no attempt was made to interfere with the betting.

Milpitas, a 12 to 1 shot, captured the first, and several winners were paid off after the official announcement was made in the ring. The betting ring was essentially different in appearance from preceding seasons. The layers and players intermingled, and it was difficult for the outsider to determine where bets could be placed.

Frank Daroux, a well known San Francisco sportsman and politician, who has conducted poolrooms in Sausalito for a number of years, was one of the most prominent layers, and Al Konigsberger, who conducted one of the "big stores,"

CORPORATION IS HELD ILLEGAL BY COURT AND IS ORDERED DISSOLVED

Officers of Company Announce That Appeal Will Now Be Taken to United States Supreme Court

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—IT WAS ANNOUNCED TODAY BY THE OFFICERS OF THE STANDARD OIL COMPANY THAT AN APPEAL WOULD BE TAKEN FROM THE DECISION OF THE UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT FILED TODAY AT ST. PAUL AND ST. LOUIS AS THAT HAD BEEN THE GENERAL UNDERSTANDING BY COUNSEL ON BOTH SIDES.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 20.—The Government wins its suit against the Standard Oil Company.

The United States Circuit Court today ordered the corporation to be dissolved as being illegal.

This case was heard in the United States Circuit Court at St. Louis in April last, by Circuit Judges Sanborn of St. Paul Vandeventer of Cheyenne, Hook of Leavenworth and Adams of St. Louis.

Judge Sanborn, the presiding judge, wrote the opinion and the decree, in which all the judges concurred, and sent them to Judge Adams at St. Louis who filed them and entered the decree in that city this morning.

In addition to the opinion written by Judge Sanborn, Judge Adams announced today a separate concurring opinion by Judge Hook.

Charges Combination and Conspiracy

The case was argued by Frank B. Kellogg of St. Paul and Chas. B. Morrison of Chicago for the United States, and John G. Milburn of Buffalo, David T. Watson of Pittsburgh, Moritz Rosenthal of Chicago and John J. Johnson of Philadelphia on behalf of the defendants.

It was brought to enjoin John D. Rockefeller, William Rockefeller, Henry M. Flager, Henry H. Rogers, John D. Archbold, Oliver H. Payne, Charles M. Pratt, the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and about seventy other corporations from maintaining a combination and conspiracy in restraint of trade, to monopolize interstate and international commerce, and the decree grants the injunction sought by the government.

The case is one of the most notable in the history of the national government on account of important industrial and legal questions and the vast financial interests it involves. The evidence filled twenty-one volumes and occupied more than ten thousand printed pages and the arguments of counsel more than three hundred printed pages.

Congress Has Power to Regulate Traffic

The nature of the case and the character of the decision appear from the syllabus of Judge Sanborn's opinion, which reads:

"Congress has power under the commercial clause of the Constitution to regulate and restrict the use, in commerce among the several States and with foreign nations, of contracts, of the methods of holding title to property and of every other instrumentality employed in that commerce, so far as it may be necessary to do so in order to prevent the restraint thereof denounced by the antitrust act of July 2, 1890, 26 Stat. 2000."

"Test of the legality of a combination under this act is its necessary effect upon competition in commerce among the States or with foreign nations."

"If its necessary effect is only incidentally or indirectly to restrict that competition, while its chief result is to foster the business of those who make and operate it, it does not violate that law."

Combination Illegal, Declares Court

"But if its necessary effect is to stifle or directly and substantially to restrict free competition in commerce among the States or with foreign nations, it is illegal within the meaning of that statute."

"The power to restrict competition in commerce among the several States or with foreign nations, vested in a person or an association of persons by a combination, is indicative of the character of the combination because it is to the interest of the parties that such a power should be exercised and the presumption is that it will be."

"The combination in a single corporation or person, by an exchange of stock, of the power of many stockholders holding the same proportions respectively of the majority of the stock of each of the

MINERS RESCUED ALIVE FROM ST. PAUL SHAFT

Saved After Seven Days in Tomb

CHERRY, Ill., Nov. 20.—At 4 o'clock the rescuers reported that the exact number of living men in the mine was 78. Sixty-seven were in one section and eleven in another.

CHERRY, Ill., Nov. 20.—Forty men were found alive in the St. Paul according to a report sent to the surface at 2 o'clock.

The men were reached after a wall of debris had been broken down.

The survivors were immediately rushed to the hoisting shaft and stimulants were administered.

One of the men, after being brought to the sunlight after seven days' entombment, was only able to mutter incoherently. His face was black from the smoke and slightly scorched.

It appears that the men, after discovering their predicament, walled themselves in.

One of the rescued men called out from the case that he believed 150 men were alive in the east shaft.

At 2:30 rescuers came to the surface and reported that they had temporarily cut off the rescue work. A call for fresh miners was issued and immediately a score of men entered the shaft. It was believed the first would be extinguished soon.

The fight against death was led by Joseph M. Crescino, one of the two men brought up in the cage. He reported between thirty and forty men alive in the south wing.

In the darkness, where they had waited for seven days in an agony of hunger and suspense, the imprisoned men had lost track of the time and thought today was Sunday.

Nourishment was administered in

FOOTBALL TEAM IS SUSPENDED

Faculty of Fremont High School Suspends 11 Boys and 2 Girl Students

FRUITVALE, Nov. 20.—Thirteen boys from the John C. Fremont High School, who played in the baseball game last Thursday afternoon against the Alameda high school in the athletic grounds of the high school in Alameda were dismissed by Principal Rosseter of the Fremont High school Friday afternoon. Two girls of the basketball team, who were among those wended.

The students who took part in the games were not permitted to enter the regular high school team of the Fremont High school, as they were different in their work and it is stated that they left the school without permission and did not wear the baseball suit of the Fremont High school and therefore did not identify themselves as members of that institution.

LABOR FEDERATION ENDORSES GOMPERS

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 20.—Emphasizing its approval by a rising vote the American Federation of Labor convention adopted yesterday a committee report endorsing the position taken by President Gompers in the Buck Stove and Range injunction case and protesting against the "unjudicial and intemperate language" used by Justice Wright in sentencing Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison to jail for contempt of court.

FRENCH ROYALISTS TO SUPPORT CATHOLICS

PARIS, Nov. 20.—The Royalists issued a manifesto today announcing their intention to unite with the Catholics at the coming general election in opposition to those candidates who are not in sympathy with the church attitude regarding the public schools.

PITIFUL LIFE STORY IS TOLD IN COURT

Tears Wet Cheeks of Aged Parent

By LYNN ETHEL WILSON

AUBURN, Nov. 20.—Fighting with all the strength of her sturdy, rugged mountain womanhood for the life of her youngest child, Mrs. Pike Bell, aged mother of Alma Bell, the girlish slayer of her lover Joe Ames, whose trial for murder is now drawing to a close, took the stand this morning.

Shaken by sobs, and swayed by a grief beyond her control, the witness broke down again, and again and Judge Arnot, actuated by an intense pity for the struggling woman, called a short recess which allowed her to recover in a measure her self-control.

Going back to the days of Alma Bell's childhood, Mrs. Bell told of her life about the farm, her going out to work while she was still a young girl, and the poverty with which the family has struggled since the death of the father Pike Bell which occurred ten years ago.

"Alma made other friends after she left us," testified her

Brilliant Assembly at Friday Night Club's Opening Dance

SCENE AT THE OPENING OF THE FRIDAY NIGHT CLUB DANCE AT MAPLE HALL LAST NIGHT

The eleventh consecutive season of the Friday Night Club was opened last night at Maple hall with one of the most brilliant assemblies ever held in Oakland. When the music for the first number began and the dancers took their places in the mazes of the cotillon, the scene was like that of a fairland. The decorations of the ballroom were entirely green, and against the white of the walls, and the glint of the mirror panels presented an enchanting appearance. The dancing began at 9 o'clock, and the intervals were so arranged that the supper dance was announced at 11 o'clock. The men were slightly in the majority, a fact which pleased the patronesses and augurs well for the success of the remaining assemblies scheduled for the season. A number of chaperons in the balcony watched the scene with the keenest pleasure. The membership of the club includes many of the younger set and the later debutantes were predominant. The music was excellent and the supper left a thing to be desired. The supper room was gorgeous in red garlands and red candles.

The gowns of the girls were unusually beautiful and almost without exception the latest in style of costume was affected.

Among the girls, no gowns noted were the following:

MISS SUE HALL: Pink chiffon with a bertha and a cut band edged with a green lace, the same arrangement being on the skirt. Bands of pink and green gave a finishing touch to the dress.

JUDGE DEASY DISMISSES CASES

Charges of Stealing Documents From Langdon's Offices Are Dropped

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—Police Judge Deasy dismissed today the charges against Frank J. Murphy, Eugene E. Platt, Wm. Abbott Luther G. Brown and Jos. N. Hamilton, who were arrested on the charge of stealing and receiving stolen documents from the office of District Attorney W. H. Langdon. Assistant District Attorney Louis Ferrari made a motion to continue the cases one month, but it was overruled.

The men dismissed today are the last of the nine who were arrested last spring on a charge of abstracting papers connected with the trial of Patrick Calhoun from the office of District Attorney Langdon. The other cases were dismissed last week.

J. DALZELL BROWN IS SUED ON BIG NOTE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—J. Dalzell Brown, ex-official of the California Safe Deposit and Trust Company, who was recently discharged from San Quentin penitentiary after serving a sentence of eighteen months, was made defendant this morning in a suit for $37,500 instituted by J. Boas. In that connection also it was shown that the entire security put up by Brown on a promissory for $250,000 had been sold by Boas for $250,000.

The note was executed March 19, 1906, the $250,000 being loaned by Boas and in return he received as security 550 shares of the capital stock of the California Safe Deposit and Trust Company, 500 shares of the stock of the Eldorado Lumber Company, 200 shares stock in San Francisco and San Joaquin Coal Company, and 15 bonds of the San Francisco and San Joaquin Coal Company. These securities represented the pet investments of the defunct bank, and Boas alleges that he was paid $5000 of his principal shortly after the failure of the institution, that he sold all of the securities for $2500, and that $17,500 is still due him from Brown.

COUNTERFEITER FOSTER MUST SERVE 5 YEARS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—Fred A. Foster, who was convicted of counterfeiting in the United States District Court here, was sentenced today by Judge De Haven to serve five years in San Quentin prison and to pay a fine of $100. A stay of execution for two weeks was granted to enable Foster to communicate with his family in Oregon to obtain means to prosecute an appeal.

Foster was arrested last April in Marysville, with Thomas Crowe and William Wakefield, for having counterfeited in his possession. On the first trial Crowe and Wakefield were convicted and are now serving sentences, but the jury disagreed in Foster's case and today's judgment was the result of his second trial.

HEIRESS IN STOCKINGED FEET WANDERS THROUGH STREETS IN EARLY MORN

Mrs. Bessie Bell of Prominent Alameda County Family, Wife of Millionaire's Son, Arrested as Drunk

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—Attired in a seal skin coat, and with a picture hat, which, however, was carelessly perched on the side of her head, with hair bedraggled and wet; gloveless and shoeless, her stockings soaking from the damp pavement, Mrs. Bessie Bell, heiress of a quarter of a million dollars, and well known socially on both sides of the bay, was arrested at the Winchester Hotel, in Third street, at 4 o'clock this morning, and taken to the city prison to be booked for intoxication.

Across the prison register, beside her name, there reads the common, but nevertheless startling accusation, "drunk."

DAUGHTER OF RANCHER.

Mrs. Bell is the daughter of a prominent rancher of Pleasanton, and was formerly Bessie Johnston. Beautiful and talented she was prominent in the social whirl across the bay, attended the normal school, later took a post-graduate course at the University of California, and completing her studies, she taught for a while.

About six years ago, she eloped with Fred Bell, the son of Thomas Bell, the Dundee millionaire, and a far more among the smart set was caused by the sensational nature of the affair.

In a recent partial distribution of the famous Bell estate, her allotment was approximately a quarter of a million dollars.

REMEMBERS NOTHING.

Moreover, no one seems to know just what was responsible for her condition, and who were her companions on the wild night escapades in the rain which brought about such an ending.

When interviewed this morning after her release at 9 o'clock, Mrs. Bell could give nothing of her experiences. Still somewhat under the influence of the various concoctions which she had imbibed, she could only cry: "I don't remember. I was in an automobile, but I can't tell you what occurred. I don't know."

WILDLY HYSTERICAL.

Between 12 and 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon Mrs. Bell registered at the Winchester Hotel as Mrs. Jackson. According to the attaches, she was not accompanied by anyone, and little attention was paid to her as she was assigned to a room. Later in the day she went out, and whether or not she took an auto is not known. At any rate, she staggered up to the hotel entrance at 4 a. m. with gloves and shoes gone, and presenting a lamentable appearance. She was excited and wildly hysterical, and Night Clerk Joseph Ivers and his staff of bell boys could do nothing to quiet her. They found themselves unable even to escort her to her room, and as they feared that other guests would be awakened by the disturbance, Policemen Seguire and McDonald were called, and

CHAPTER HOUSE REPORTS THEFTS

College Boys Complain of Stealings in Their "Frat" Home

BERKELEY, Nov. 20.—A thief in the exclusive chapter house of the Delta Psi fraternity at 2631 Channing way has been playing havoc with the small valuables of the college boys and according to reports made to Chief of Police today by W. H. Englebright and J. J. McCallan, manager of the Daily Californian, the student daily, the sum total of the losses will be heavy.

Englebright declared that his room had been entered in his absence yesterday and a gold nugget pin valued at $5, a pearl pin worth $5 and a watch set costing $5 stolen. The police are investigating.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC HAS WITHDRAWN OBJECTIONS

The Southern Pacific Company has withdrawn all objections to the city lay-out of the improvements in the vicinity of Session's Brien, because the memorandum of agreement between the city and the railroad company had not been ratified.

It was feared for a time that the Southern Pacific Company would stand in the way of the improvements in the vicinity of Session's Brien, because the memorandum of agreement between the city and the railroad company had not been ratified.

WADING INTO BAY MAY LEAD TO ASYLUM

Howard Wyndham, arrested several days ago while wading into the bay, and taken to the city jail, has been charged with insanity. While in detention at the city prison he made things lively, smashing everything within reach. After making a wreck of everything portable and available, he took up the pose of the Apostle Paul.

THREE CHINESE HELD FOR GRAND LARCENY

Three Chinese were locked up at the city jail this morning charged with grand larceny.

They are accused of having entered the store of Zee Ahung at Malacca, several days ago, and breaking open and removing the cash register. Their names are Loung Bow, Lue Tien and Low Young.

WIFE OF FURNITURE SALESMAN IS DIVORCED

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—Mary Ely, the wife of Francis Ely, a salesman for the John Breuer Company, Oakland, was granted a divorce from Mr. Ely today on the ground that he had abandoned her and has not since resumed her.

Heney's Campaign Expenses.

Francis J. Heney has filed a statement of his election expenses that is curious if not instructive. For reasons not stated, but which may be surmised, it is not sworn to. Heney declares he did not spend a dollar in making his campaign or District Attorney, and knows of no one else who did; he knows of no money being spent by anyone to promote his candidacy. What became of the money that was collected in various parts of the State to help elect Heney? Who got it, and who spent it? Was it "swiped" or did it fall into the hands of that honest gentleman, "Big Jim" Gallagher? There was a constant begging for contributions to the Heney campaign fund, and the veracious Bulletin announced the receipt of contributions as low as ten cents from a school child in San Rafael to ten dollars from "a farmer" in Oregon. Chet Rowell boasted in the Fresno Republican that he had collected and forwarded a considerable sum to promote the election of Heney. Apparently the great prosecutor does not read the Bulletin and the Fresno Republican or, if he does, regards their statements as untrustworthy as those he is in the habit of making himself. That Heney did not spend a cent of his own money we are quite prepared to believe, but that he knows of no money being contributed to aid his candidacy, or being spent in aid thereof, is not so easily believed. There was money contributed and money spent. Defeat has evidently not improved Heney's veracity.

Another Intercollegiate Victim.

The death of a Georgetown, D. C., University student from injuries received in an American intercollegiate football contest with the University of Virginia fought on the gridiron last Saturday, has prompted the faculty to suspend all football games until the national football rules committee gives assurance that the game has been shorn of its dangerous features. Of course, the committee will repeat the assurance it gave three or four years ago when it went through the farce of revising the rules of the game. The committee then asserted that the deadly features had been cut out in the revision of the rules. On the committee's assurance the eastern universities which had previously cut out intercollegiate football from the list of college athletics restored it. This year's experience demonstrates the fact that the alleged revision was a monstrous farce and that the present rules are as deadly, and possibly more dangerous than they were before any revision was made. The list of fatalities to eastern players this season is the most formidable, we believe, on record. And most of the victims were fatally injured in precisely the same way and under the same conditions. No wonder the authorities of the naval and military academies and the faculties of many of the eastern universities have called a halt on any more football contests occurring until the rules are again revised. As a matter of fact no revision of intercollegiate football can produce satisfactory results until the mass plays are totally eliminated. It is in these mass plays that the deadly work is done every time. No one knows what is going on while the players are massed together, except that under the cover of the writhing mass a deliberate attempt is probably being made to cripple some dangerous rival and put him out of the game. The two big universities in this State never did better work for clean and manly college athletics than when their respective faculties abolished intercollegiate football, and while there exists an honest division of opinion as to whether Association, better known as Soccer, or Rugby, is the better and more useful form of football for college students, and the most thrilling and attractive to the spectators, the wisdom of the universities in substituting Rugby for the banished intercollegiate game has been amply demonstrated.

In the New York telegraphic announcement of the death of William M. Laffan, editor of the New York Sun, he is erroneously credited with having been the managing editor of the San Francisco Bulletin in 1870 and for two years after. The Bulletin was then published by Fitch, Pickering and Simonton, with George Kenyon Fitch as its editor-in-chief. Samuel Williams was during the period mentioned and for many years afterward, up to the time of his death in Oakland, associate and managing editor of the paper, and Howe city editor. Benjamin Avery, afterward United States Minister to China, and the late William C. Bartlett, who died at his home in this city about a year ago, were the editorial writers. Then the Bulletin was a great power in the land. Indeed, the Bulletin and the Sacramento Union were then the strongest and most influential papers in California. We do not recall that Laffan was ever associated with the Bulletin in any capacity as a news reporter under Howe or under William M. Bunker, who succeeded Howe as city editor.

Tonight's Celebration.

There will be "a hot time in the told town to-night" in honor of the new spirit which has been born within and to celebrate the expansion of its territory and the increase of its assessed valuation and population. The whole city—the old and the new part of it—is filled with enthusiasm to overflowing and there is occasion to let off some of the surplus. There is truly cause for rejoicing over the fact that during this week we have in reality discovered ourselves and the discovery has been an unsurpassing pleasure to every citizen who has a genuine interest in Oakland's growth and prosperity.

One important feature in the discovery is that we have found ourselves to be practically a united community, pulling together in earnest, with a fixed purpose in common in view. The other is that a great civic awakening has been demonstrated, in which all past timidity regarding community improvement has totally disappeared. The revelation will be worth celebrating. And the burning in effigy of the old spirit of contention and cross-purposes, retarding progress and postponing Oakland's natural destiny into a peerless commercial and manufacturing center, and raising out of its ashes the resplendent figure emblematic of the new Oakland full of vigorous life and irrepressible energy, will be a fitting commemorative ceremony. The transition through which Oakland has passed is really worthy of being immortalized in a monument of imperishable bronze or stone erected on an enduring pedestal in front of the new city hall about to be built to bear witness to the generations to come that the present-day Oakland is true to posterity and wedded to the genius of progress. The recalcitrant eight hundred who were untrue to themselves, to their city and to their posterity should robe themselves in sackcloth and ashes and hide their faces forever in shame. To the inhabitants of the territory annexed, the day is certainly one in which jubilation is entitled to have full sway, for on it they are reaping the first fruits of the harvest of benefits they are to garner through the new relationship by the introduction of the five-cent fare wherever the local system of electric rapid transit transportation extends throughout the new city. It is a positive earnest to them that all other benefits promised them will follow in their order in due time. The situation is inspiring and points the way clearly to still greater municipal achievements in the near future, for Oakland's path lies henceforth onward and upward.

Defeat of Standard Oil.

According to a St. Paul, Minnesota, dispatch published elsewhere in THE TRIBUNE, the Federal government has won the suit it brought against John D. Rockefeller and his associates in the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and nineteen subsidiary corporations in other States to enjoin them from engaging in interstate commerce and for an order of dissolution on the ground that they were maintaining an unlawful combination against interstate commerce and in restraint of trade. The suit was tried in St. Louis last April before United States Circuit Judges Sanborn of St. Paul (presiding), Vandeventer of Cheyenne, Hook of Leavenworth and Adams of St. Louis. The opinion granting the decree of injunction and dissolution was written by Presiding Judge Sanborn and was filed in the United States Circuit Court at St. Louis by Judge Adams today. One of the trial judges has filed a separate opinion; but all of them concur in the findings and decree. The suit is regarded as the most important affecting the status of corporations engaged in interstate commerce. The constitutionality of the interstate commerce law and the rights of Congress to regulate interstate trade were involved in the suit, as well as the proof of an unlawful conspiracy, in which the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, the parent organization of the great monopoly, was the dominant factor. The court holds that the conspiracy and the relationship between the nineteen defendant corporations and the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey have been established by the government; that it was an unlawful combination violative of the interstate commerce law and in restraint of trade, and that the Constitution confers unquestioned powers upon Congress to regulate interstate trade. The government is thus sustained by the decision on every point raised. Of course, the case will be carried to the United States Supreme Court, as the court of last resort. In fact, notice of an appeal to that body has already been given by the defendants. If the decision is finally sustained by the Supreme Court its effect will be far-reaching, as it will have a bearing on all mergers and other combinations of any kind formed to destroy competition and for the establishment of a monopoly.

POLITICAL GOLD BRICKS

The comic papers would have us believe that the farmer is the easiest mark for those having gold bricks to sell. Do not believe it. Evidence multiplies that your trained city man surpasses him as a purchaser of politician's diamonds. One of the most notable instances of such bargain and sale is the case of a former lieutenant governor of New York, who, eager to be President of the United States, gave a politician promoter $15,000 to help him get a nomination for that office.

The wealthy aspirant was told that the promoter had great influence with newspapers. But the net result produced by the $15,000 was a few unimportant clippings from newspapers on the other side of the Alleghenies.

But that result does not indicate that western newspapers were purchased by the promoter. In their goodness of heart they could not refuse to further a harmless boom, or, who knows? they may have appreciated a joke.

The credulity of some persons on the subject of buying newspaper influence is pitiable as well as ludicrous. That a lieutenant governor should hand over $15,000 to a newspaper editor, to be invested by him in the purchase of newspaper influence, would be incredible if not guaranteed by the sworn statement of the aspirant's brother who acted as go-between in the deal.

Aspirants for public office ought to know that newspaper influence which can be bought is not worth anything.—Boston Globe.

Topics Timely and Interesting

MEXICO CITY.—The order issued by Gen. Manuel Gonzalez Costo, minister to Gen. Bernardo Reyes to visit Europe, has been made public. It is as follows:

"The president of the republic, after taking into consideration your competence and meritorious enlightenment, has been pleased to direct that you proceed to Europe in order to study the systems of compulsory military service in vogue there, so as to derive from them suggestions to be embodied in a law for the introduction of such service into the republic, and also has been pleased to direct that in the performance of the mission you will be accompanied by Maj. Gustav A. Salas and Capt. Nicholas E. Martinez without prejudice to the retention by the former of his position as military attaché of the Mexican legation at Paris and Madrid, all of which I have the honor of communicating to you."

NEW ORLEANS, La.—Dr. H. H. West of Gulfport, Miss., in a paper on hookworms, read before the Harrison county (Miss.) Medical Association, declares that "the disease is becoming more prevalent every day. It thrives best in sandy soil, and I know of no more suitable place than the coast counties of Mississippi. I believe that at least 75 per cent of the children of south Mississippi are suffering from the disease in some degree."

"The disease is more prevalent among those who come in direct contact with the soil, such as farmers and those who go barefooted. The way the parasite enters the body is through the skin. Ground itch is caused as it enters. Every individual who has had ground itch has had and may still have hookworms."

"After passing through the skin it gets into the blood vessels and is carried to the heart, thence to the lungs, and then into the bronchial tubes, up to the trachea, down the esophagus to the stomach, finally reaching the small intestine, where its deadly work is begun."

CLEVELAND.—"Often I meet nothing but struggle," John D. Rockefeller told the Euclid Avenue Baptist Sunday-school. "But I think it is a great blessing. I remember when I first learned to swim in New York, 30 years ago. I had to kick, splash and struggle. I have been struggling ever since. If we do not have to struggle we will be weaklings, to be strong we must struggle always."

Rockefeller produced four of his old Sunday-school class books, dated 1880, when he was teaching, and two of the pupils, old men now, who were enrolled therein, and told the class about them.

BOSTON, Mass.—Rear Admiral G. F. F. Wilds, who commanded the dynamite gunboat Katakhdin during the war with Spain, declares that the semi-submarine, such as Great Britain plans to build, is the coming type of vessel. "The telling feature of the semi-submarine type of boat," said Rear Admiral Wilds, "is the ease with which they can be handled. The Katakhdin, for instance, could turn almost in her own length, like a Chinese junk." She could turn around and look at herself, in sea-men's phrase. She could maintain a speed of more than 16 knots, too, despite the fact that she was awash in any kind of high water. This, which is the objection raised to the new type of semi-submarine, is hardly defensible. The boat swims like a shark. The waves do not break on her, but merely stir over her.

"The other prime objection brought up against the proposed new type is the low freeboard, which, they say, will prevent the manipulation of her runs in a heavy sea. This is nonsense. I've been in southwestern typhoons in the China Sea, which is the roughest water on the face of the globe, and I never saw the time yet when I could not open up the ports and train my guns."

"The new type of battleship could be built at much less cost four semi-submarines equaling in cost one dreadnought."

The best zoo in the world, alas! is not that of London. If we take as our criterion the number of inmates, London has only 272 animals, while Berlin has 3149 and New York 4134. We hasten to say that the result is not entirely due to protection. The climate of Berlin, though foreigners denounce it, is better for the purposes of a zoo than London's. And New York has the home market to draw upon. The animals of the American continent are countless. You can scarcely name a genus that is not represented, while there are as good many American animals that have no near relative elsewhere. The very first marvellous discovery by Europe was the American coon, and neither Europe, Asia nor Africa can produce an indigenous member of that order.

The Austrians are known to be the greatest "sticklers" for genealogy, many of the nobles tracing their descent back to almost the dawn of history. Even in Austria, however, it is generally admitted that the Dukes of Norfolk represent the oldest family in the world. According to the most trustworthy authorities the Howards are of Saxon origin, the name in those days being Hereward. So far back as 837 there are trustworthy records of the family.

Of sanctuaries for the eighteenth century debtor the value of the patent later must not be overlooked. So long as the actor was in the bounds of the playhouse he was safe. There was John Palmer, for instance, who lived in the dressing room at Drury Lane for months. But engagements—even at Drury Lane—were required. The Haymarket. The journey was a dangerous one. Necessity, however, always fosters invention. They packed him in a cabinet, put the cabinet in a cart, and called him " scenery."

Alcohol and Alcoholism Enemies of Progress

Alcohol and alcoholism are two of the real and substantial enemies of moral, artistic and commercial progress of the human race, according to the report of the United States delegates to the twelfth international congress on alcoholism made public by the State Department yesterday. The delegates were appointed by Secretary Knox as one of his first official acts. The congress was held last July in London, and twenty-five governments were represented, the delegates of each concurring in the general finding that alcohol not only was unnecessary to human life and comfort, but was inimical to both.

Three departments of the United States government were represented. Delegates—the State, Navy and Treasury. Twelve representatives signed the report, the finding of which is to condemn the drinking habit as dangerous to public health and morals and subversive of national, moral, commercial and military greatness.

While the congress urged the necessity of imposing the most rigorous restrictions on the sale and traffic in alcoholic liquors, it regarded as equally important the need of educating the younger generation to a true knowledge of what alcohol is and what its effects upon the human system are. The delegates believe that the numerous recent discoveries as to the harmfulness of drunkenness, and even of "moderate" drinking also, should be set before children, in order that they may see the danger of the practice. The American delegates sum up this phase of their report by saying:

"Increased teaching as to its character and influence should be provided to conserve industrial efficiency in the commerce of the public health and morals."

The relations of drunkenness to crime was a subject that received much attention at the congress. The chief justice of England, Lord Alverstone, announced that in his belief 90 per cent of the crimes passing under his observation were due to drink.

Judge W. F. Pollard of St. Louis, Mo., said:

"Increased teaching as to its character and influence should be provided to conserve industrial efficiency in the commerce of the public health and morals."

Pointed Paragraphs

Common sense is more uncommon than otherwise. Many a great hope is erected on a small foundation. Mixed drinks are responsible for a lot of mixed ideas. One way to flatter a woman is to tell her that you can't.

A woman who is asked to church three times a week and enjoy it. A talkative man is apt to be as good natured as he is foolish. When a man buys groceries he likes to begin at the clear case. Give the booster a chance to make good and watch him fade away. Does any one really understand you? Do you understand yourself? Never worry about troubles today that you can put off till tomorrow.

A bachelor girl is sometimes an old maid who is ashamed to admit it. A blond-thirsty white house for every county might solve the situation. Perhaps, after all, it would be better to the outset to agree upon a plan to place a white house in every city of over 1000 inhabitants, and thus avoid all animosities, except as to village, which could be taken care of later when the President got used to one-night stands.

There is no doubt that the public business requires that the President should give as much time as possible to the people and their local needs. The establishment of a single seat of government at Washington was a mistake. Of course, the expense may halt the movement for a thoughtful instant, but in the end the needs of Equibbs Center and Possum Corner will prevail.

Now that Augusta has started the fight for a White House, let the idea take hold of each state, each county, and each district throughout the United States, and let there be no rest for congressmen until there is a White House in every town of over 1000 inhabitants.—Washington Post.

Already Boosting Taft for His Second Term as President

"President Taft will be re-nominated without opposition, and undoubtedly will be re-elected," said Representative Philip P. Campbell, of Pittsburgh, Kans., at the Willard.

"I do not take any stock in the story that the friends of former President Roosevelt are seeking to bring about his nomination in 1912, and I do not think that Mr. Taft has any apprehension along that line. The President has made good, and he will continue to make good, and his re-nomination and re-election are as certain as anything in politics can be."

Just at this time the people of Kansas are not thinking of or talking politics," continued Mr. Campbell. "I spent seven weeks in my district during the campaign, and I represent, I think, about as representative a district as any in the country. It was my observation that the people do not want to and will not discuss politics now. They are satisfied with the settlement of the tariff, and they are not discussing it. One can no longer see daily gatherings on the corners, and the dry goods stores that in former days were the platforms for local political oracles, are now conspicuous by their absence. The little gatherings of men in the smaller towns are those of prosperous business men or farmers, who discuss prospective loan or other business transactions. Never in all my political experience have I known a time when the voters of this country were so little interested in politics. They are too busy making money, in my part of the country, at least. The tariff does not interest them in the least. They are satisfied that it has been settled."

"The best sign of the prosperous condition of the people is in the high prices. With $1 a bushel for wheat and $7 to $8 for cattle, it is no wonder that the farmers of the West are in a happy and contented frame of mind."—Washington Post.

Easy love, easy get over it. A man and his reform are soon parted. Sometimes when a woman smiles she means it. Nearly all women are sincere; they just won't practice it. The greatest help a woman gets in deceiving a man is from him.

Religion Is the Only Bar to
The Intermarriage of Jews

The question of the intermarriage of Jews and gentiles was discussed yesterday in the meeting of the conference of American rabbis in Temple Emanu-El. Most of these whose opinions were heard opposed such intermarriage on religious grounds and took care to point out that their opposition was not based on racial grounds. Two papers on the subject were read to a large audience, consisting chiefly of women, and then the discussion was opened. It had not gone far when a motion was made and carried that the discussion be ended. Those who cut it short explained they did not consider the question a momentous one, and that it would give the subject too much importance if an extended discussion were permitted.

Rabbi Nathan Krass of Rochester read a paper by Professor Ephraim Feldman of the Hebrew Union College of Cincinnati on "Intermarriage from the Historical Viewpoint." Feldman made it clear, in tracing the history of races, that he considered Jewish racial purity a fiction. He said there are no pure races, and to the time for a period of 1800 years, up to the time of Abraham, the Jews did not hesitate to assimilate with other races.

He added that there were two prevalent errors on the subject of intermarriage—one that it was an exclusively Jewish question and the other that it was a question of race. He opposed intermarriage solely on religious grounds, saying it was a procedure incompatible with the religious self-respect of either side. The only remedy for such intermarriage, he believed, was an intensification of the distinctive religious consciousness of the Jew. The religious impediment to intermarriage grew up, he said, when Christianity forbade the marriage of Christian to Jew.

The Rev. Dr. E. Schuchman, rabbi of Temple Beth-El, also emphasized that his opposition to intermarriage was not from the racial viewpoint. "The synagogue," he said, "has no objection to people of any race because of their past. What the synagogue asks of them before it can accept their marriage is the acceptance of the Jewish religion. Its whole objection, the one impediment, is purely a religious one. When that impediment is removed by conversion the marriage can take place."

Rabbi Schuchman asked that the ideal marriage, in the Jewish view based on the Scriptures, is a complete union, not merely a physical union, and not merely a moral union, but a spiritual union. "By the spirit of Scripture," he said, "and also by its letter in the opening chapters, there can be no racial impediment to marriage between Jew and Gentile, for the one God of heaven and earth created all humanity."

The speaker also urged rabbis not to perform ceremonies for intermarriages. Rabbi Isaac S. Moser said he was opposed to intermarriage in principle, but he thought it unwise for the Jews to make any positive law on the subject. Then the discussion was ended.—New York Press.

BUILD MORE WHITE HOUSES

The report that Augusta, Ga., has asked its representative to have a bill passed through Congress providing for appropriation to build a winter residence to the President in that city may lead to an epidemic of plans for building White Houses in various and sundry localities of this United country. There are few citizens who will think that their communities are unfit to be headquarters of the government during some period of the year. The President ought to get at least a few days of the ozone and intellectual invigoration which their climate and influence afford. This Augusta proposition, therefore, may be expected to open up a general White House propaganda throughout the United States. Without reflecting in the slightest degree upon the desirability of Augusta as a place for executive residence, we suggest that the limitation of this splendid idea to one city is a mistake, and that the plan should be elaborated so as to take in at least one city or town in each state. In fact, no village should be excluded from the pleasurable agitation and contest. What greater question could engender the attention of the patron of the stove and cracker box of the store in Podunk and the authorities of last resort at the postoffice at Mexican Gulch than the proposition that a white house should grace the corner of Main street and the most important lane in either metropolis? And if the jealousies be ing to the pleasure of the President should give as much time as possible to the people and their local needs. The establishment of a single seat of government at Washington was a mistake. Of course, the expense may halt the movement for a thoughtful instant, but in the end the needs of Equibbs Center and Possum Corner will prevail. A Brief Sermon for Busy Readers

THE LIVING CHRIST.

"I am alive for evermore"—Revelations, 1:18.

"The sublime apocalypse is the climax of revelation. It carries us forward from the past to the future, from facts to truths, from present conditions to permanent issues. It crowns the story of redemptive agencies with the crown of redemptive vision. It is a book of complications, of finishing touches, of final results. It takes up the broken threads of history and weaves them into the fabric of eternity. It turns our gaze from what has been, and, around us to what is and shall be. Above all, it advances our thought from the Christ of history to the Christ of eternity. It translates for us the man of sorrow into the crown and conquering lord of a supreme spiritual empire. In a word, it gives us a noble, worthy conception of the living personal Christ."

We reach an undisturbed historical Christ to the exclusion of the ever living present Christ. It is the Christ of today who leads us and receives our homage, not the Christ of twenty centuries ago. The historic Christ, who lived, spoke, worked, died and rose again in our midst is our ultimate ground of verification for the great spiritual truths and hopes which inspire and quicken us today. The Christ of history is only the beginning, the cross of Christ is only the finger post that Christ is vander and lives. By the death we are justified and by his life we are saved. It will not do for you and me to stand on the brow of the past, gazing up at a departing Christ or our conception of Christ and his gospel, and our character, experience and hope will suffer disastrous impoverishment. The men of Galilee had all the facts of Christ's life and after the resurrection some adequate ground of verification for the great spiritual truths revealed himself to them. Although Christ's last words to his disciples were "All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth, go ye out and preach." He immediately checks himself and said, "Tarry in Jerusalem until ye be endowed with power from on high," and that power was the vision of Christ, the promised baptism of the Holy Spirit, the assurance of Christ's return and indwelling. This text is Christ's new introduction to the church militant, an introduction of himself from above to his disciples below. It is a revelation of himself in his lordship, clothed with the authority and resource of spiritual dominion. "I am he that liveth and was dead." The living personal Christ is identical with the Christ of history. On his head are many crowns, in his hands are the keys of mastery, to his service yields all God's powers. But I want you to note that right in the center of this shining vision the old familiar Christ of the gospels is made clearly discernable.

"It was careful to claim his place on the field of history and to reaffirm his identity as the son of man, to revive the fact of his incarnate life and to link what he is in heaven with what he was on earth. His human brow is visible through the divine halo, the hand that grasped the scepter bears the nail-marks of tragedy. The eyes, alight that John saw them as flaming fire, recalled the tear drops which fell at Bethany, which fell at Jerusalem. As he invited us to the wedding at his throne he bids us look at the steps which led to it and the inscription which they bear. And we read Bethlehem, Nazareth, Gethsemane, Calvary and Olivet.

"In the resumption of his glory not one of his attributes has been eliminated. No gospel can be adequate for the needs of the day that does not emphasize the power of the risen life, Christ's enthroned humanity is the secret of our consummation and attests the perpetual sufficiency of his one sacrifice."

FORMER OAKLAND ARTIST HONORED AT A-Y-P.

Word has been received from the committee in charge of the awards of the fine arts department at the Alaska-Yukon Exposition at Seattle that Mrs. Laura Frasier Waterbury, formerly of Oakland, but now living in Sitka, Alaska, has been granted the gold medal for her picture of the late General W. R. Shafter. The picture was a water color and was done from life. General Shafter is sitting in a chair, and the artist's studio she then had on Jackson street. The picture was in competition with some of the most famous artists of today and the notice of the award will undoubtedly be pleasing to many of Mrs. Waterbury's friends in San Francisco, as well as in Oakland.

Mrs. Waterbury has had her work exhibited in different eastern exhibits, including the Paris and St. Louis world's fairs, and never before has she been allowed to be in competition with other pictures for any prize.

Mother-in-Law is Shot at By the Husband of Her Daughter

BOYVILLE (Lassen Co.), Nov. 20.—A. T. Boyd, who is now confined in the county jail at this place for shooting his mother-in-law, Mrs. M. F. Barrow, was bound over to the Superior Court for trial after a preliminary examination held before James Brannan, justice of the peace.

The shooting was the outcome of a family quarrel a few days ago in which Boyd's wife took a shot at him with a 12 rifle the ball penetrating his side and causing some of the skin off his head. Boyd in turn took a shot at his mother-in-law with a shotgun, and she once he hit her in the chest, which turned the volley of shot in its course several shot entering her arm.

Boyd was captured after an exciting chase by Sheriff Emerson, who at the time was on the road in his automobile to San Francisco, where he was expected to arrive in a few days. Boyd was sentenced to six months' imprisonment at that place for breaking up the furniture in the house and borrowing a rifle from a rancher he started in pursuit of Boyd.

Boyd attempted to put up a fight, but Sheriff Emerson outwitted him and captured his prisoner without further difficulty.

Grand Jury Forces Five Couples to Secure Marriage Licenses After Inquisition

YREKA, Nov. 20.—The Grand Jury has forced five couples living in Yreka to take out licenses and be married. The Grand Jury reported to the Superior Court.

"There are certain men and women living together in Siskiyou county without being married to each other, and in some instances rearing illegitimate children. Subpoenas were issued and a number of these parties were brought before us. In every case the parties admitted the evil of their conduct and promised under oath that they would have marriage ceremonies performed immediately, thereby becoming man and wife."

This report was made to the Court last Thursday. Before Saturday night five couples, living in Yreka, and under promises made to the Grand Jury, got licenses and were married.

MISS ALPHA PHIPPS, who will be a bride in January of Thomas J. Peterson of Berkeley. —Bell-Ordery Photo.

WEDDINGS always form social events of unusual interest, and one of the notable dates of this year's week was the marriage at the home of the bride of Theodore Seymour Hall and Miss Ruth Houghton. The Halls are from Honolulu and the Houghtons represent one of the pioneer families of the coast, the late General and Mrs. Houghton making their home for many years in Sacramento, and later coming to Oakland, establishing their home—which was for so many years a landmark—on Jackson street.

The bride, who was Ruth Houghton, has always been a girl of most universal charm—very pretty, very sincere, and very steadfast in her loyalty to her friends. About a hundred and fifty of the friends of the family were present at the Houghton home, assembled in honor of the marriage of the only daughter of the household.

The Houghtons last year built one of the new homes in the Adams Point district, admirably fitted for entertaining, and under the direction of skillful fingers it made a bower of loveliness, the decorations for the wedding being specially well planned.

The hall, which is in dark tones, made a lovely color study in autumn tones, and in chrysanthemums massed up with fine effect. The autumn leaves throughout the home were specially lovely, and great chrysanthemums were beautifully ranged in baskets in the drawing-room.

Large pink and white chrysanthemums carried out an ideal color scheme, and the oak boughs, beautifully arranged added a note of strength to most artistic effects.

The improvised altar before which the ceremony took place was a most effective study, the decorations being carried out in white and the pillars and other adornments of the altar being in gold.

The ceremony was set for 9 o'clock and promptly at that hour the orchestra played the march from Lohengrin, and the wedding procession moved on its way making, a few minutes later, a very beautiful picture before the improvised altar. The bride and her attendants, as well as the young girls who were guests at her wedding, have grown up together in the Lakeside district, from kindergarten days, and the wedding of a dear companion is always of the closest interest to other girls. The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles R. Brown, and was most impressive, and at the close of the ceremony, friends and relatives crowded around Mrs. Hall, in a delightfully informal reception, offering congratulations and good wishes.

When Miss Houghton made her debut a few seasons ago, she was one of the most attractive debutantes of the winter, and she certainly ranks as one of the most beautiful of this year's brides.

She wore a very elaborate wedding costume; on her gown of heavy white satin was an overdress of princess lace, and the bodice of the gown was finished with a yoke of duchesse lace. The long wedding veil of tulle, was caught up with a wealth of orange blossoms, and the bride's bouquet was of lilies of the valley and orchids.

The bride's attendants were Miss Hall of Honolulu, Mrs. William Thornton White, Mrs. Harry Chickering, Miss Rose Kales and Miss Florence Henshaw. The best man was Philip Hall, and the ushers were William Thornton White, Ben Reed, Shirley Houghton and Harry Chickering.

The bride planned an exceedingly attractive color scheme, a scheme shading from palest pink to deep American Beauty color tones. Miss Hall, who is a most attractive girl, wore a dainty frock of pink chiffon over pink liberty satin, and she carried a large bouquet of carnations.

Mrs. William Thornton White carried off the honors of the evening as the most stunning of all the many young matrons present, and her gown was the most beautiful. It was an imported gown in shaded effects of pink, from pale tones, deepening towards the long train to the brighter American Beauty tones. It was brightened in the most unique way by superb trimmings in steel designs, and the corsage showed a rare arrangement of beautiful lace. Mrs. White carried a large bouquet of American Beauty roses, and she wore American Beauty roses in her hair.

Her costume was one of the most beautiful and one of the most striking seen on either side of the bay this season. She was a stunning study, and deserved the many compliments sheaped upon her.

Mrs. Harry Chickering and her sister, Miss Henshaw, wore gowns of pink, with trimmings of fur. Miss Rose Kales carried off the honors of the bridesmaids, looking very sweet and attractive, in a most becoming girlish gown of pink chiffon, very artistically designed. She carried a large bouquet of bridesmaids' roses and the silver ornaments in her hair were fastened with pink roses. Her costume was along simple lines, but most artistic, and she was a very charming little bridesmaid, in the very prettiest of bridesmaid's costumes.

Many lovely gowns were in evidence at the wedding, for it is the beginning of the season, and the new gowns in the early winter days are of much interest always.

Mrs. Charles Houghton wore a gown of white brocade, beautifully trimmed in lace. Mrs. Frank L. Brown wore a most elaborate gown of black liberty satin, very elaborately spangled, and shining ornaments in her hair completed one of the most brilliant costumes of the evening.

Mrs. Walsh wore one of the most attractive gowns at the wedding, a gown of white broadcloth, trimmed in rare lace, and her ornaments were diamonds.

Mrs. Charles Bates, who is one of the most attractive and most popular of the young matrons over here, was gowned in white liberty satin, elaborately trimmed in lace.

Mrs. George Hammer wore a very elaborate gown of white liberty satin, beautifully embroidered in seed pearls and she looked specially well.

Miss Florina Brown was a dainty study in blue, her gown showing a new effect, with an Egyptian overdress.

Mrs. Hiram Hall was in white chiffon, the corsage showing a fine arrangement of lace.

Mrs. Harrison Clay wore an effective gown of black spangled chiffon, and her sister, Mrs. Harry East Miller, was in pale pink liberty satin, the costume set off with diamond ornaments.

Mrs. Charles Hutchinson (Gertrude Allen), was one of the daintiest studies of the evening. There is always something most refined, very unique and most original about her gowns. At the wedding on Tuesday her gown was of blue liberty satin, elaborately trimmed in Persian effects, and she wore orchids in beautiful shades.

Always at a wedding—wedding and bridesmaids' gowns seem to be very appropriate—and among recent brides who wore their handsome wedding gowns of white satin were Mrs. George Jensen, Mrs. Stuart Hawley, Mrs. Paul Dinmore and Mrs. Henry Sander.

Among the young girls at the wedding, all of whom were exceedingly attractive studies, since most of them are very pretty girls indeed, were:

The Misses: Elsie Clifford, May Coogan, Marjorie Coogan, Mollie Mathes, Clarisse Lohse, Carmey Sutton.

Jessie Craig, Ethel Henshaw, Ruth Kales, Susie Hall, Miss Schilling, Lolla Wenzelberger, Gladys Meek.

Among the guests at the wedding were:

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. M. and Mrs. J. R. Stratton, Miss Edson Adams, Miss Harriet Hall, Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Meek, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kales, Mr. and Mrs. Syl. Mrs. Everts, Miss Minnie Houghton, Dr. and Mrs. Belden, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Clark, and Mrs. Walsh, Miss Alice Knowles, Mrs. William Henshaw.

YOUNG GIRLS WORE PRETTY GOWNS.

Many of the young girls had exceptionally pretty gowns, among them Anita Thomson and Josephine Johnson, both of whom are very stunning in evening costume. Miss Madeline Clay wore the attractive bridesmaid gown she wore at the Meek-Hawley wedding; Carmen Sutton wore an effective costume in white and gold effects; Miss Susie Hall, who is one of the prettiest of this winter's debutantes, was in white, and Miss Clarisse Lohse was in pale pink, with dainty Dresden trimmings.

Miss May Coogan was in pink chiffon, and Miss Gladys Meek wore a very handsome white lace gown.

Among the engaged girls at the wedding were Ruth Kales, Arline Johnson, Lolla Wenzelberger and Elsie Campbell. Miss Wenzelberger's engagement to Lieutenant Shea of the Buffalo was announced this week, and the popular bride-elect has had the usual round of good wishes offered her.

Miss Wenzelberger is a graduate of the University of California, a sorority girl, and she has always been very much in the social activities of Oakland and Berkeley. Her sister, Mrs. A. E. Graupner, is a leading member of the Collegiate Alumnae.

The elaborate wedding supper served at the Houghton home was under the direction of Mary Hallahan, and the well planned menu was so successfully carried out that it called forth many compliments from the assembled guests.

The table was a most attractive study in pink, with pink bridesmaid roses and broad pink bands. It carried many favors; among them the gifts of the bride to her attendants, lovely pins, showing bar effects—studied with amethysts.

Mr. Ben Reed was toastmaster, and among the bright and clever speeches of the evening were those of Rev. Charles R. Brown and Mr. Frederick Stratton.

Fate distributed the bride's favors as seemed best—to Florence Henshaw she gave the thimble, to Miss Hall, the maid of honor, the heart, to Mrs. Chickering the ring, and to Mrs. William Thornton White, the ten-cent piece, which means future wealth.

The bride's gifts were unusually handsome, many gifts coming from the East where the Houghtons have an extensive family connection. An elaborate chest of silver was the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Houghton to their daughter, and Miss Minnie Houghton gave to her niece a coffee silver service in a very beautiful design.

There were lovely rugs, a Dresden set of dishes, mahogany furniture, fine pictures, all making a wonderful collection of wedding gifts to beautify a future home.

Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Hall and Miss Hall are to sail on Monday for the Islands, where they will reside permanently. Already a picturesque bungalow has been prepared for them, and their many friends in Honolulu are planning a complimentary round of entertainment for them. Mrs. Houghton will visit her daughter in the spring and no doubt the Halls will be frequent visitors in the future to our city.

SOCIETY PEOPLE PLAN FOR THANKSGIVING

The many social events of next week will concentrate themselves around the Thanksgiving holiday, that being the time devoted to the best of family reunions. It has come to be tacitly understood that on Thanksgiving day the children and grandchildren return to the old home and gather in a family reunion around "the festive board." It is a sad day for the dweller in a hotel, for if there ever is a time when "all the comforts of home" appeal to one it is on Thanksgiving day. Many hostesses are most generous, and they make room in their family circle for the young people at boarding school or at college, or for the young man or the young woman whose life lines have led them far from well beloved ones.

There are a great many large family connections on our side of the bay. The A. A. Moore's include the John Valentines, the Walter Starrs, the A. A. Moore's junior, and Ethel, Margaret and Stanley Moore. The attractive little grandchildren are the pride of the household.

Mrs. Requa always entertains at Highlands, and she often has as her guests the Townes and Woodens of San Francisco, who, since the destruction of their home in the great fire, have taken up their winter residence at the Fairmont.

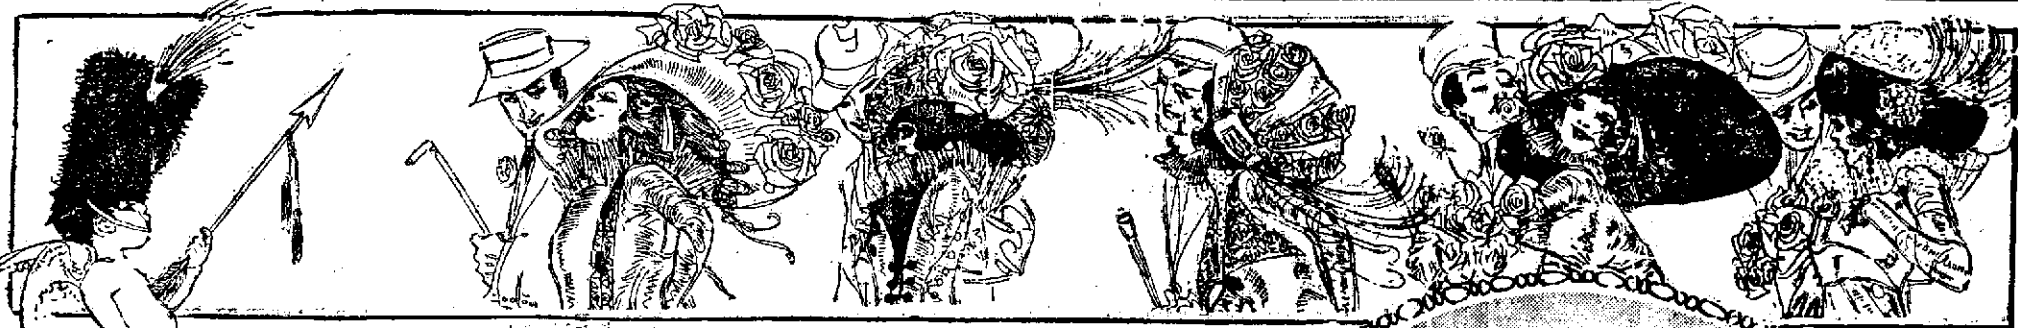

General and Mrs. Long moved into their new home at Piedmont on Monday, but they are not far from the old home and can keep holiday with Mrs. Requa.

The Mark Feugas and the Misses Herrick are another family group, which may enjoy a holiday time together, the first in some years, since the Misses Herrick have been many months abroad.

Mrs. Crellin includes in her family circle in the holiday time the Robert Fitzgeralds, the Whipple Halls, and often the relatives from across the bay.

Mrs. Chabot is the center of another large circle, in which are the Robert Knights, the J. H. Dieckmanns, Mrs. J. P. Dunn, the Leon Boggs and the grandchildren, to whom Thanksgiving day always means so much. Mrs. Clay has for years entertained all the members of her family at "Level Lea," and she knows how to plan for the largest holiday gatherings of the season.

The Nicholsons and Rosenfelds keep most of the holidays together and a large family group is made up of the J. H. Macdonalds, the Edward Lacey Braytons, the A. S. Macdonalds, the George McNears junior.

And apropos of Thanksgiving in that little book, "The Lady of the Decoration," the fascinating little heroine sings:

"My turkey 'tis of thee,
Sweet bird of cranberry,
Of thee I sing.

I love thy neck and wings,
Legs, back and other things."

Many well known people are spending the Thanksgiving holidays far away this year.

Mrs. S. T. Alexander is in the Hawaiian Islands, where she is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. John Waterhouse, formerly Martha Alexander.

Mrs. Selby and Edith Selby are in New York, and Miss Ethel Valentine will join them and will spend the winter in the East. Arthur Selby is in boarding school, but will spend the Thanksgiving holidays with his mother in New York.

The George McNears junior, with Ernestine McNear, will be abroad this year for Thanksgiving, and will be in Paris, where Miss McNear will spend the winter in school. The T. A. Richards are in England and their Thanksgiving holidays will be spent in London.

President and Mrs. Wheeler and Miss Sprague have returned to Berlin, and the American colony there is preparing a grand "jubilee feast" for Thanksgiving day. The Wheelers have been to Kiel and to Cologne, and in the latter city an elaborate banquet was given in their honor.

Mrs. Belden and Miss Nadine Belden are settled in Dresden, and will spend the winter there. They are rapidly joining the army of American expatriates, who have learned to be happy and to make their home under foreign skies.

Doctor and Mrs. Louis Lohse (Marion Walsh) were in Dresden recently and enjoyed a very pleasant visit with the Beldens.

The Lohses have decided to remain abroad another year and Doctor Lohse to continue the studies abroad, in which he has achieved so notable a success. On his return to the coast, he will be one of the best prepared young men in his profession.

The Walshes have a home so perfect in many ways that one feels quite sure Doctor and Mrs. Lohse will have many "waves of homesickness" in the coming holiday time.

MR. AND MRS. HALL ARE AT DEL MONTE

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Seymour Hall are at Del Monte, and they are planning to return on Saturday, when they will be guests at the Houghton home until Tuesday.

On that date they will sail for Honolulu, and this bride will be greatly missed in her family circle and among her friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Houghton have sent out cards announcing the marriage of their daughter Ruth to Mr. Theodore Seymour Hall, on Tuesday, the sixteenth of November.

JUNIOR ASSEMBLY TO HOLD DANCE

The next dance of the Junior Assembly will be held on Friday evening, November 28, at Maple Hall. The decorations will be appropriate to the Thanksgiving season and the music will be by Yanke's full orchestra. A merry time is anticipated by the young people, who know by their past experience how successful these dances have always been.

The patronesses have tried specially hard to make these dances successful, and among the dancing chaperones have been Mrs. William High, Mrs. J. R. Scupham, Mrs. N. A. Acker, Mrs. W. E. Sharon, Mrs. Arthur Crellin, Mrs. Cockroft, Mrs. Selby, Mrs. Samuel Brick junior.

MRS. JANIN PASSES AWAY

Life is made up of sunshine and shadow, and those of who look out upon a clear blue sky can be very sorry indeed for our friends upon whose pathway shadows have fallen. Agrest loss came to many friends and relatives last week, in the passing of Mrs. Elizabeth Janin, and many expressions of sincere sympathy have been sent to her aunt, Mrs. Michler, who was always most devoted to her niece.

Many friends are very sorry also for Louis Janin, for the loss of one's mother is a sorrow deep and enduring.

Some months ago Mrs. S. H. Michler, who comes of one of the most prominent families in the State, took up her residence on Madison street, and her niece and the latter's son have been often her guests in her attractive home, meeting again the old Oakland friends who were so sincerely attached to them. The Janins have been identified with so much of interest in California that the passing of Mrs. Janin brings many expressions of most sincere sympathy.

Mrs. Elizabeth Janin came to California with her parents when a small child and they located in Oakland. She and her sister grew up beautiful girls and at 18 she married Louis Janin junior, who, with his two brothers, were the leading mining experts of that time. Mr. Janin was manager of the famous Gould and Curry mine, and their home was in Virginia City, Nevada. In after years when Mrs. Janin returned with her husband and children to Oakland, she was warmly welcomed by her early friends, all of whom were sincerely attached to her, for her gentle manner endeared her to all with whom she came in contact. She was much interested in all the charities and for years was treasurer of the Ladies' Relief Society. Twenty years ago they gave up Oakland for a ranch near Santa Barbara and have since lived there, coming to Oakland for some months every year.

A year ago Mrs. Janin was induced to return with her sister, Mrs. Latham Dwight, to Paris, for a visit and after being there only five months, Mrs. Dwight was suddenly taken away by pneumonia, after five days' illness. Of course the shock was very great to Mrs. Janin, but she was feeling bright and well when the attack of neuralgia came on. She was ill just a week, and twenty-four hours before her death was removed to Merritt Hospital, her physician thinking he could see her more frequently if there. She was cheerful on leaving home, expecting to return in a few days, but it was not to be. Her nurse was standing near her and did not realize she had passed away. To those who knew and loved her, her death will be a great sorrow and a personal loss, as such sweet natures are rare.

The loss to her family is irreparable and their grief in this trouble is very great. Mrs. Michler has been prostrated by the shock. She was most devoted to her niece, and the passing of one so dear to her has been a sad blow. And after all, the friendship of true friends is all that can lighten such a bereavement.

MR. AND MRS. BOWLES AT THE FAIRMONT

Among the invitations of the week have come cards from San Francisco announcing that Mr. and Mrs. Philip E. Bowles and Miss Bowles will be "at home" on Saturday, the twenty-seventh of November, from four until seven o'clock, at the Fairmont Hotel. This will be one of the largest and most notable receptions of the winter, including as it does on the invitation list so many prominent families on both sides of the bay. The "at home" will mark the formal coming out of Miss Amy Bowles, the only daughter of the household, a splendid girl in many ways.

Miss Bowles has not belonged to any of the junior dancing classes, nor to the Friday Night Club. She has been most carefully educated, having spent the past three years in one of the most prominent of the New York boarding schools, coming to Oakland only for her vacations. Miss Bowles has a large circle of relatives and friends who bid fair to make her first winter in the social world a series of bright and happy times. After the monotony of boarding school, with its years of strict rules, a young girl's first winter should be a joyous time, and many friends wish bright days for the attractive and popular Miss Bowles.

MRS. WILSON ENTERTAINS AT THE FAIRMONT

A very delightful luncheon was given at the Hotel Fairmont in San Francisco last week, the hostess of the day being Mrs. Henry Wilson. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson have one of the most hospitable homes in our city, and with their sons, make their friends very welcome at their home on Madison street.

The luncheon given by Mrs. Wilson at the Fairmont was perfectly planned and it was an occasion long to be remembered by those happy enough to be Mrs. Wilson's guests.

Covers were laid for twenty-four in the large round table of the red room, and the decorations of scarlet carnations and red shaded candelabra added to the effective color scheme. After luncheon Mrs. Grace Davis Northrup gave three groups of songs, French, German and English, most delightfully sung and greatly enjoyed by her auditors.

Among Mrs. Wilson's luncheon guests were Mrs. Edward Hughes of San Francisco, Mrs. Oscar Luning, Mrs. George White, Miss Gremke, Mrs. S. Chapman, Mrs. Lester Burpee, Mrs. J. S. Burpee, Mrs. C. Rohls, Mrs. F. M. Hurd, Mrs. James A. Johnson, Mrs. Murray Johnson, Mrs. George Miller, Miss Crane, Mrs. F. E. Wells, Mrs. J. R. Scupham, Miss Playter, Mrs. A. Morton, Mrs. E. R. Dille, Mrs. G. B. M. Gray, Mrs. E. Hinkle, Mrs. J. C. Hill.

MR. AND MRS. HOLLAND GO TO THE COUNTRY

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Holland have gone to the country for the Thanksgiving holidays, and will be at their country place, "Du Aloha," at Brookdale. They will entertain guests for the Thanksgiving holidays and among them will be Mrs. Holland's mother, Mrs. Thomas Wade.

OAKLAND PEOPLE AT DEL MONTE

We are beginning to appreciate the rare charm of early winter days in the coditry, the gorgeous coloring of the leaves and the freshness of the air, and the vivid green of the early verdure.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Wingate motored down to Del Monte this week, taking with them Mr. Wingate's brother, who is here from England on a visit. They are enthusiastic golfers, and have spent much time on the Del Monte golf course.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hubbard, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hubbard junior and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hubbard (George Strong) have enjoyed a most delightful visit to Del Monte, and have had many picnics and excursions along the coast.

MRS. EDWARD WALSH GIVES BRIDGE AFTERNOON

The bridge afternoon, given by Mrs. Edward Walsh, was one of the most delightful affairs of the season, beautifully appointed in every way and calling out one of the most interesting and brilliant assemblages of the early winter. Mrs. Walsh is a much loved hostess, for she has the charm of sincerity, of always being the same, and there is an abounding hospitality most characteristic of both Mr. and Mrs. Walsh. They have a lovely home and they are never so happy as when they are sharing it with others. They are especially fond of their children, and because of the latter, many young people have good times in this delightful home.

Mrs. Walsh, with her quiet, well-bred ways, and a certain steadfastness of character, has many friends, and Mr. Walsh is most popular with the young people, for after all, the latter do appreciate the efforts of the older people to give them a bright good time.

Mrs. Walsh entertained the large number of guests in honor of her son's fiancée, Miss Elsie Campbell. Maurice Walsh is a splendid fellow, a university man, with a fine future already assured, and his engagement to Miss Elsie Campbell was recently announced. One hears that the engagement is of long standing, and that the romance had its beginning in grammar school days.

The Walsh home is admirably adapted for entertaining, being one of the most happily planned of the lovely Linda Vista homes. It carried elaborate decorations of gorgeous yellow and white chrysanthemums, and made a charming environment for the bright picture made by the young girls and young matrons, who are Mrs. Walsh's friends.

Mrs. Walsh looked exceedingly well in a very handsome gown of yellow liberty satin, the corsage elaborately trimmed in yellow lace.

Miss Elsie Campbell, the guest of honor, was gowned in green liberty satin, elaborately embroidered in seed pearls, and Mrs. Campbell, her mother, wore a handsome reception gown of white lace.

Mrs. Walsh was assisted in receiving her guests by Mrs. Campbell and by Madame Sofia Neustadt, and other members of the receiving party were:

Mrs. F. M. Smith, Miss May Coogan, Mrs. Roland Oliver, Miss Irma Chase, Mrs. Sperry, Miss Louise Butz, Mrs. Dan Belden, Mrs. George Jensen, Miss Carlisle Lohse, Miss Bessie Palmer, Mrs. Bernard Miller, Miss Jane Rawlings, Mrs. Margaret Taylor, Miss Christie Taft, Mrs. Hayward, Mrs. George Ham, Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. George Westcott.

Some very stunning costumes were seen at the bridge party, notably those worn by Mrs. William White, Mrs. William de Mrs. Paul Dinmore, Mrs. George Ham, Miss Coogan, Mrs. Montell Taylor, Miss Carlisle Taft, Mrs. Hiram Hall.

Among the prominent young matrons at the card party were: Mrs. Hiram Hall, Mrs. Paul Dinmore, Mrs. William White, Mrs. Edmund Dyer, Mrs. Hal Chase.

Mrs. McClure Greg, Mrs. Montell Taylor, Mrs. Stuart Hewley, Mrs. Charles D., Mrs. Henry Bender, Mrs. Lee Cole Burns, Mrs. Murray Orrick, Mrs. Walter Starr, Mrs. Harry Farr, Mrs. John Valentine.

Among the pretty young girls at Mrs. Walsh's card party, who looked exceedingly well were:

Miss Anita Thom, Miss Madeline Clay, Miss Ruth Kaks, Miss Beattie Reed, Miss Rose Kaks, Miss Carmen Sutton, Miss Jessie Craig, Miss Edith Beck, Miss Arline Johnson, Miss Alice Knowles, Miss Josephine Johnson, Miss Charlotte Hall, Miss Christine Eng, Miss Gladys Eng, Miss Margaret Coogan, Miss May Coogan, Miss Joan Clift.

There were many beautiful gifts, a prize for each table, and at the close of the card game elaborate refreshments were served by Mary Hallahan, the table being set in the beautiful ball room, which is such a notable feature of the Walsh home.

The afternoon was one of the most successful of the winter, and the young people greatly enjoyed the good time planned for them by their generous hostess, Mrs. Walsh.

Miss Elsie McMullin was dainty in pale pink.

Mrs. Henry Rosenfeld was hostess today at a merry theater party in San Francisco, the guests consisting of fourteen children of Oakland families and their mothers.

Moore to the Playground Commission, an appointment which has given general satisfaction everywhere in the city. All her friends know how very generous to others Ethel Moore can be, how very unselfish in her good work. Her fine executive ability was shown in the Home Club, when she was its first president and guided its destinies through trying times.

Miss Moore has for some years been president of the Social Settlement at Third and Fillmore streets, and its splendid work, so quietly done, has deserved the praise accorded it by well-known philanthropists.

ECHOES OF THE FOOTBALL GAME.

Echoes of the football game at Stanford still resound on the Berkeley campus, and well they may ring out there for the greatest football game ever played on the coast. Those who saw it have something historic to remember, and incidentally they learned one of the great lessons of life.

It was very hard on the blue and gold people--on their way down Stanford was so sure of winning; in fact, the fight was already won. It was just as a prominent man said: "It takes courage for us all to live up every year for our annual licking." But a perfect wave of blue and gold all the same rolled down to Palo Alto, and it was wonderful to see the splendid color tones out on the Stanford bleachers. Such a fight as it was, so intense, that hardly any one was seated during all the game, when the impossible happened at every turn. For it was not the "Oski wow wow" of Berkeley, nor the "Rah, Rah, Rah, Stanford" that was the real slogan. It was that one great, splendid yell from the University of California that roared out at every turn of the game, "Fight, fight, fight!"

And California plucked up courage and fought with a splendid desperation that made the rest of us fight the battle, too; for always, when there was a hopeless bit of play, the great command rang out, "Fight!" And it was splendid.

And then there came that wonderful "Rugby kick"--again the impossible was to be attempted. Thousands rose in their places breathless, and a death-like stillness settled upon the great football field. Out rang one great yell from the megaphones--"Fight!"--then again silence, and out there in the field stood a man, curiously alone, fighting for his college, with the impossible before him. Such a steady nerve as he had! And then the ball sailed out grandly over the football field, and seemed to soar in much majesty straight over the goal.

And then did Stanford rise and cheer with all its might for California, and the noise on that football field was good to hear, for something really great had been achieved. Then we knew we would win, and that the California blue and gold would wave in victory.

It represented one of the greatest dates of the year and many Oakland and Berkeley people either motored to Palo Alto or took the special train for that college town.

In one of the sections were noticed Governor and Mrs. Gillett, the Crellins, the Macdonalds, the E. A. Herons, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rosenfeld, Miss Nicholson, Doctor and Mrs. Charles H. Rowe, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chanslor, the Eversons, Miss Arline Johnson, Mr. Charles Towne, Miss Mollie Connors, Dalila Thomson, Mr. and Mrs. William Thornton White, Miss Mollie Mathes.

LITTLE DAUGHTER AT THE ALEXANDER HOME.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Alexander are receiving many congratulations on the arrival of the little daughter who came to gladden their home this week. There has been much rejoicing over the coming of the little maid, and happy times will be planned for her in both the Barker and Alexander families.

The Alexanders spent a great deal of time this summer at their country home in Los Gatos, but they will be for the winter at Gray Gables, their Piedmont home. It is one of the most beautiful homes in that higher range of hills, and the Alexanders have planned lovely grounds to add to the charm of their handsome home.

FIRST DANCE OF FRIDAY NIGHT CLUB.

The first dance of the season of the Friday Night Club was scheduled for last night, and the patronesses of the club report an unusually large number of acceptances. The Friday Night Club is a well established club, with much social prestige and many prominent young girls have made their debut by way of the Friday Night dances.

Last evening also was scheduled the first dance of the Greenway Assembly, which was one of the most important of the San Francisco dates.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Ransome were dinner hosts at the Fairmont last evening, and their guests went later to the Greenway dance. One hears also that the Friday Assemblies are to be organized again this winter, since, under Willard Barton's management, they scored such a success last year.

The assemblies include for the most part young married people and the older girls and men who have had more than one season in society. They are brilliant dates of the winter, arranged with much care, and very successful social events.

It seems as if Oakland has its full share of dancing dates, with the Junior Assembly, the B club, the Friday Night dances and the Friday Assembly.

There are plenty of good times for every one, and a bright winter seems assured for most of us.

THE DE SABLA DANCE.

The De Sabla dance will probably go down in social history as the most beautiful ball since the period when the Sharons, Mills and Howards made San Mateo county brilliant. After all, city balls are all more or less alike, generally more. One has a large house, which is beautifully decorated from the ceiling, or one hires one of the hotel ballrooms, which is decorated in the same fashion. There is a good supper and good music, and that is all. But at the De Sabla dance everything was built for the ball. The De Sablas, some years ago, purchased the old Howard place in San Mateo and have the advantage of a beautiful background of old trees and fine Japanese gardens. This splendid old planting could not be imitated on any new place and it made a delightful background for thousands of electric lights which illuminated the grounds. Here would be a dwarf Japanese maple all turned red in autumn foliage, with electric lights placed inside and back of the tree at just the best angles to make it show in all its loveliness.

Each Japanese lantern was a beauty in itself--the sort you would like to have for your own house. As the guests motored or drove up the long drive the scene was fairyland. The ballroom was a marquee with an elaborate painted trellis, which ended in huge stone vases filled with long-stemmed American Beauty roses and laughing Bacchante heads or grotesque Panes. The room where the wall was covered with growing and blooming orchids was the punch room. In the supper room the small tables were decorated with small gilded French baskets from which pink roses and white hyacinths tumbled in greatest profusion. The supper was delicious and most lavish and everything was bounteous and generous as could be. In the ballroom were three playing fountains, all lighted with electric bulbs and full of growing water lilies. An orchestra of twenty-five pieces played absolutely new music brought by Mrs. De Sabla from Europe. The same music was played at the Greenway ball last night.

Everyone was merry as a sand grig and each woman looked her best. There were many beautiful absolutely new ball gowns worn. One hundred and ten guests sat down to dinner at the Peninsula Hotel at 8 o'clock and coffee was served to them when they returned from the ball at 5. Those who came down on the train were provided with carriages from the hotel to the house, and everything was done on a manorial scale such as one rarely sees outside of England. The ball will register the high water mark of beauty and gaiety for some years to come.

LUNCHEONS OF THE WEEK.

A number of charming luncheons have marked the week. On Wednesday Mrs. George Pope gave a delightful luncheon at her Burlingame home, and on Thursday Mr. Mountford Wilson gave one at her Burlingame house, Midcocks. On Thursday, also, Mrs. Patrick Calhoun entertained at luncheon, her guest of honor being Mrs. George Bacon of New York, who is staying at the Fairmont for a few weeks.

BRIDGE PARTIES OF THE WEEK.

Mrs. Charles J. Deering entertained seven tables at bridge on Tuesday, and Mrs. Albert Baker Spaulding entertained four tables the same day. Among Mrs. Spaulding's guests were Mrs. Henry Foster Dutton, Mrs. John Rogers Clark and Mrs. Leonard Chenery.

Among Mrs. Deering's prize winners were: Mrs. James P. Langhorne, Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Ralph Hart and Mrs. Pfingst.

Mrs. Alexander Fraser Douglas entertained seven tables of bridge on Friday of last week and on Saturday entertained another seven tables. Among Mrs. Douglas's guests were: Mrs. Danforth Boardman, Mrs. L. L. Baker, Mrs. Frederick Fenwick, Mrs. Ralph Hart, Mrs. Grayson Dutton, Mrs. Harry Gray, Mrs. Spaulding, Mrs. Watson, Mrs. Perkins, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Harley, Miss Virginia Barstow, Mrs. Leonard Chenery, Mrs. Walter Quick, Mrs. Corryell, Mrs. Henry and Mrs. Loughborough.

Cards are out for two large hotel bridge parties, at one of which Mrs. Fenwick will be hostess and at the other Mrs. Florence Pfingst. Mrs. Harry Mendell has cards out for a bridge party on Monday, the 22d, and Mrs. A. P. Hotelling Jr. for a large bridge party on December 9. Mrs. Hotelling is just home from a long European sojourn and has been renovating her attractive Franklin-street home.

DINNERS OF THE WEEK.

Most of the large dinners of the week took place last evening and preceded the Greenway dance. Templeton Crocker's dinner was called off a day or two ago to enable Mr. Crocker to go to New York, where his uncle, George Crocker, is very ill. Will Crocker has hurried home from Europe to be at his brother's bedside.

Among the dinner hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. Clark and Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Calhoun, who entertained thirty guests in the gray room at the Fairmont.

This evening a large stag dinner will be given at the Bohemian Club by Knox Maddox.

CONGRATULATIONS FOR THE ALEXANDERS.

Congratulations are being extended to the Wallace Alexanders on the birth of a daughter, which occurred late last week. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander are deservedly popular and their charming home will know the brightest Christmas it has ever known.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wilson have named their little daughter Mabel, after Mrs. Wilson.

WEDDINGS OF THE WEEK.

The most notable wedding of the week was that of Miss Ethel Lincoln and Mr. John Ralston Hamilton, the well-known young architect. Mr. Hamilton is a brother of the beautiful Hamilton sisters, one of whom is Mrs. George Martin of San Rafael, and another the beautiful Alexandra Hamilton, who was a debutante two seasons ago. Miss Lincoln is the only daughter of a wealthy and prominent family which lived on Rincon Hill before the fire, but now lives in Scott street. The family has a country home in Napa county and the bride is an heiress. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton have departed for Europe for a honeymoon journey. The marriage was to have been a very private one, with no announcement made of the engagement until after the event, but the plans were frustrated by news of the engagement leaking out.

COMINGS AND GOINGS.

The C. O. G. Millers have returned to San Francisco and have reopened their beautiful Pacific-avenue home. Everyone is sorry to hear that Miss Marian Miller will not be able to go out much this winter, as she is still a semi-invalid after her severe attack of appendicitis and subsequent relapses. Miss Miller made her debut so late last winter that she did not participate in all the season's gaieties and she had intended to make it up this winter. She is a beautiful and popular girl and her friends are sure to make her winter as delightful as circumstances will permit. She is not likely to pass many hours in solitude.

Joseph D. Redding left for New York on Thursday, but will return to San Francisco by the end of the year.

THE ST. FRANCIS CONCERT.

The first concert of the St. Francis Musical Society in the St. Francis ballroom last Thursday evening was a great success socially, whatever may have been thought of it artistically. A great hue and cry has been raised by self-constituted critics over the lack of enthusiasm displayed by the audience. As a matter of fact, when scenery is mismanaged and talent is mediocre, there is small possibility for enthusiasm. Had Miss Dibblee's Spanish dances been put earlier on the program before everyone was tired out and a third of the audience had departed, her reception would undoubtedly have been warmer.

The first dance, "The Awakening of Spring," was awkward and was spoiled by the limitations of the stage and the bad behavior of the curtain. After that the dances improved steadily in charm, interest and ease of execution.

The ballroom was crowded and every log was taken. Among those who entertained guests first at dinner and afterwards at the concert and supper were Mr. and Mrs. George Newhall, who had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Pringle and Mr. and Mrs. Lilly. Mr. and Mrs. Calhoun entertained the George Pops and the Sam Knights. Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Corryell entertained Gertrude Atherton and Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Douglas. Mr. and Mrs. Minter entertained Mrs. Richards, Dr. and Mrs. Sherman, Miss Ethel Beaver and H. Carrington Wilson. Mr. and Mrs. James Tucker entertained Mrs. Dibblee. Mr. and Mrs. William Babcock, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Bothin occupied a loge. Mrs. James C. Jordan had guests in her loge. Almost everyone remained to supper, and among those supping were: Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Welsh, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Beaver, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Clark, Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Sullivan, Mrs. W. Mayo Newhall, Miss Marion Newhall, and Mrs. Eleanor Martin, who had among her guests Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Pierce and Peter Martin, who were also with her in her loge. Mrs. Henry Scott had in her party E. H. Hopkins, Miss McKinstry and Mrs. Crockett. Mrs. Walter Martin entertained a small supper party.

Almost all of the women were in evening dress and hatless, which made the ballroom charmingly gay. The rule is evening dress for these affairs and hereafter no more hats will be permitted in the ballroom.

Learned Cooking Under Great Difficulties

Mrs. Scoresby Routledge, wife of a settler in British East Africa, says that every girl, irrespective of her station and fortune, should be taught to cook. In support of this opinion she tells of the difficulties under which she learned to cook. She is the daughter of wealthy

Her Canvass Won Election

Mrs. William Satter has been elected a member of the London County Council. She is the wife of a physician who has defeated a few days ago for Parliament. Mrs. Satter made a house to house canvass, and she credits her election to the support of women. She was opposed by two men, and she topped their combined vote. The chief plank in her platform were lower rents and lower taxes, two things which appealed especially to the women in the district she now will represent in the Council.

Take Babies to Night School

One of the most remarkable sights in America is the attendance of mothers with children in their arms in the Philadelphia night schools. These women are all foreign born and they are so anxious to learn English that they go to school after the day's work, taking their babies with them and leaving their husbands to care for other children at home. There are more than 1,000 mothers in the Philadelphia night schools, and the total is growing steadily.

Baby Study Reducing Mortality

Mrs. Josephine M. Griswold, secretary of the Connecticut Children's Aid Society, says that a growing interest in all parts of the country is manifested in the care of children. Conferences and meetings are being held everywhere to get as much light as possible on the subject. A new child study bureau has been set up in Hartford to confer upon infant mortality and kindred topics. The Connecticut society places children in good homes. The theory is that every child is better for home influence rather than the false and unnatural conditions of institutions, however well they may be managed. Miss Griswold says that the average mother is gaining in knowledge of the care of children, and that the result is shown in a decreased infant mortality.

Corsets in Spite of Kings

If Cleopatra wore corsets her name may be ranked among the royal champions of them with that of Catherine de Medici, who was credited with having introduced the bucked corset into France from Italy. Many kings and emperors have opposed the corset. Joseph the Second of Austria tried to discourage it by making it part of the dress of a convicted woman of bad character. Napoleon Bonaparte, shaking his head over the tight lacing of his day, told Dr. Corvisart that he saw in it a sign of frivolous tastes and a menace of coming decadence. The restoration kings, Louis XVIII and Charles X were equally hostile. "Formerly," said the latter ruler, "France was full of Venuses, Dianes and Niobes, but now they are only wasps."

Corsets in Spite of Kings

The Revolution temporarily put down the corset that now has triumphantly defied kings.

NORTHWEST IS WITH M'CREEDE

Portland "Outlaw" Threat Reviving All the Old Sores

With the smoke of threats and talk cleared away, two features stand prominently in the situation upon which has been brought about by Coast League directors refusing to let a club in the Northwest League, one that Judge and Walter McCreedie, not give in without making every effort possible to gain their point even at expense of going "outlaw," and the other is that the McCreedies will be supported by the other managers of the sport clubs in the Coast League. The situation is a growing one. It is a fact that the McCreedies are in a corner on every side. Sectional and all the old sores of the past are injected into the controversy, and where the fracas will stop no one at present is able to say. That it is more than a temper in the pot is certain. Last night Walter McCreedie, who been stopping several days in Spokane, received a wire from the judge to come home, and when the two got together there will be sparring. It is a known fact that Walter McCreedie is on the Coast League. All reason has been complaining of the treatment of the Coast League and time and again has refused the statement that the web-footers have always been handed the cards. The deal with regard to games and pines. McCreedie says that the towns in the Coast League that are drawing well in the past season. Sunday morning the Coast League is not large enough to prevent an ordinary family umbrella from covering all of them.

GLAD EVENING IS OUT. The chief point of interest in the Coast League meeting of last Monday was the fact that the McCreedies have been sent so often to the room that the fans have gotten to believe and they were as anxious as the McCreedies that he should step down. Selection of Judge Graham has met approval, but even now the McCreedies declare that they would have much preferred to have a Portland man selected.

Walter McCreedie is not anxious to stay with the present arrangement of the Coast League. What he has after for years is an eight-club circuit and last summer the Portland man stated that unless Seattle and Tacoma were taken into the Coast League organization he would outlaw. Just how much of that declaration was meant and how much "hot air," the developments of the few days will disclose.

One thing is certain: should the Northwest go out, the Coast League will have a much harder fight on its hands than it had last season with the form League. The California League was trying to break into a state of organized baseball. The Coast League was trying to break into a state of organized baseball. The Coast League was trying to break into a state of organized baseball.

Charcoal The Great Absorbent

Absorbs and Removes Stomach and Intestinal Gases and Makes the Breath Pure.

The able researches of Dr. Stenhouse, published about the middle of the last century, excited considerable interest in charcoal and its wonderful absorbing power. His experiments were directed to the deodorizing, as well as the absorbing qualities of charcoal, and he succeeded in proving beyond all question or doubt, that its properties of destroying the offensive odors of putrid vegetable and animal matter, depended, not alone, upon its antiseptic power, as had been generally supposed theretofore, but also upon its quality of absorbing and oxidizing effluvia or noxious exhalations from the putrefying matters.

Many other noted physicians have since that time investigated this absorbent and oxidizing action, and one of them, Dr. Hunter, has also published an account of his experiments, showing the relative amount of the various gases taken up by the different kinds of charcoal.

Both Stenhouse and Hunter experimented with charcoal made from poplar, boxwood, coconut shells, willow wood, and various other woods, and they found that charcoal made from willow wood possessed by far the most power of absorbing, deodorizing, oxidizing and destroying foul gases. It may be added here that animal charcoal, which is employed so extensively as a deodorizing agent, is very inferior to wood charcoal as an absorbent and oxidant.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are composed of charcoal made from the finest willow wood, the very best of all woods that can be used for this purpose. The addition of pure honey to these lozenges renders them so palatable that no one can possibly object to their taste.

When they are taken into the stomach they do not lie inert and inactive, but get busy at once in the good work of absorbing and oxidizing all foul gases, destroying disease germs, preventing the further formation of gases, stopping fermentation, flatulence and decomposition of food, and cleansing the stomach walls of catarrhal mucus.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are introduced into the system by being allowed to dissolve slowly in the mouth, where their cleansing action begins, rendering the breath pure and sweet, destroying any germs existing in the mouth, and removing tartar from the teeth.

Call up your druggist over the phone, and ask him his opinion of the power of charcoal as a stomach cleanser, gas absorbent and breath purifier; then request him to send you a box of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges for 25 cents. Also send your name and address, and we will send you a trial sample free of charge. Address F. A. Stuart Company, 200 Stuart Building, Marshall, Mich.

YANKEE DUCHESS DIES IN LONDON

Was Consuelo Yznaga of New York Before Marrying Duke of Manchester

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Consuelo, Dowager Duchess of Manchester, and the most influential American woman in English history, died this morning of heart failure at her London residence in Grosvenor Square.

The end came quickly after a long illness of neuritis. At the bedside were the two sisters of the Duchess, Miss Emily Yznaga of New York and Lady Lister Kave of London. At the bedside also was Sir Alfred Philip, King Edward's own surgeon, who had been sent by His Majesty under special orders to remain with the Duchess until she recovered or passed away.

The striking fact that the King of England, forgiving, forgives with kindly generosity, was probably never more dramatically shown than at the deathbed of the dying American duchess, when he sent his private physician to her side. Two years ago Consuelo, the Dowager Duchess, at Biarritz, was said to have violated a state secret in disclosing "privately" what the King, in his friendship, had told her at a dinner there—namely, that his Premier, Mr. Asquith, had been summoned to Biarritz to form a new British Cabinet.

NEVER ADMITTED WRONG. Consuelo never admitted that she had been confided in by His Majesty and she never denied it. But the King believed it. The nobility attaching to that faux pas placed Edward in the position of having been diplomatically misled. It had been the first of his Dowager Duchess since she first came to court as the wife of the then Lord Mandeville, thirty years ago.

Though she had been formerly only Consuelo Yznaga of Louisiana and New York, she was made almost the chief informal adviser of His Majesty, who had often declared that he had no one man in his Cabinet whose advice he esteemed as much as hers.

KENNEDY WITNESS IN COAL HEARING

Expert Testifies to Work Done on Cunningham Claims in Alaska

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 20.—Andrew J. Kennedy, the coal land expert, went to Alaska for the Interior Department to investigate the work done by the entrymen on the Cunningham group of claims, resumed his place on the witness stand when the inquiry into the irregularity of the filings was resumed before Special Commissioner William J. McElroy this morning. Mr. Kennedy again took up in turn the individual claims and described the work that had been done on them.

While he had found much more evidence of work on the claims told of today than on the fourteen concerning which he gave evidence yesterday, he said that the character of the work was more that of prospecting than of actual development. Under the regulations of the General Land Office actual improvement work must be done before patents are issued.

HAIR HEALTH

If You Have Scalp or Hair Trouble, Take Advantage of This Offer.

We could not afford to so strongly insist on the use of our Hair Tonic and Conditioner to sell it as we do, if we were not certain that it would do all we claim it will. Should our enthusiasm carry us, we would lose faith in our statements, and in consequence our business prestige would suffer.

Therefore, when we assure you that if your hair is beginning to unnaturally fall out or if you have any scalp trouble, our "33" Hair Tonic will promptly eradicate dandruff, stimulate hair growth and prevent premature baldness, you may rest assured that we know what we are talking about.

Out of one hundred test cases Rexall "33" Hair Tonic gave entire satisfaction in ninety-three cases. It has been proved that it will grow hair even on bald heads. When, of course, the baldness had not existed for so long a time that the follicles, which are absolutely lifeless, had not become atrophied. It is vastly different from other similar preparations. We believe that it will do more than any other human agency toward restoring hair growth and hair health. It is not greasy and will not gum the scalp or hair or cause permanent stain. It is as pleasant to use as pure cold water.

Our faith in Rexall "33" Hair Tonic is so strong that we ask you to try it on our positive guarantee that your money will be cheerfully refunded without question or quibble if it does not do stronger claim. Certainly we can offer no stronger argument. It costs in two sizes, prices 25 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain it only at our store—The Rexall Store, The Owl Drug Co., Inc., Oakland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Cal., and Seattle, Wash.

GOVERNOR OUSTS PRESTON OFFICIAL

Superintendent of School of Industry Dismissed for Alleged Cruelty to Boys

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 20.—It has just come to light here that Dr. William T. Randall, who said he gave up the superintendency of the Preston School of Industry at Ione to enter educational work at Berkeley, was forced to resign his post a week ago by the board of trustees of the school because of his cruel treatment of the boys in the institution. The investigation made by the Governor was at the instigation of the State Board of Charities and Corrections, which looked into complaints made to it and found them true. One of the charges was that Randall imprisoned a boy for nine days in a dark attic. In addition to charges of cruelty, he is said to have favored the Free Methodist sect in the school and showed a decided lack of initiative in the way of practicing economies.

Secretary R. D. Deming of the State Board of Examiners was reticent in talking of the affair, saying it had been deemed best for the welfare of the school as well as Randall to keep the true cause of the action secret. Deming said that Randall would not admit that he was wrong, so the only course left open to him was to resign.

FISH HATCHERY LEASED BY MARIN SUPERVISORS

SAN RAFAEL, Nov. 20.—At a recent meeting, the Board of Supervisors of Marin county passed an ordinance creating a fish hatchery and granting the California Trout Farm a lease for the privilege of operating it at Inverness on the Klamath creek, for a period of 20 years, for the nominal sum of $1 a year.

It is the intention of the California Trout Farm Company to engage in the propagation, rearing and distribution of steelhead trout, salmon and other fish to stock and maintain ponds for the purpose of rearing fish and to acquire land and water rights for the purpose of establishing spawning stations, hatcheries and ponds.

Since the organization incorporated, on July 29, 1909, it has succeeded the Northwest Pacific Railroad Company in the Ukiah fish hatchery and also the spawning station on the south fork of the Eel river, below the dam of the Shaw Mountain Water and Power Company. They have acquired land on Lake Klamath, on the Klamath creek and Inverness Park, on the shores of Tule Lake, and have expended large sums of money in the construction of concrete ponds, building dams and pumping plants.

The company also intends to erect a hatchery in Inverness Park, doing away with the latter being too far for the removal of the fish from the spawning station. The maintenance of the Ukiah hatchery will be only for stocking streams north of this county.

ANTI-FRAT LAW WILL BE STRICTLY ENFORCED

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 20.—A vigorous investigation to determine whether the superintendents of public schools throughout the State are enforcing the anti-fraternally law passed by the Legislature to prohibit Greek-letter societies from conducting activities in high schools will be made by State Superintendent of Schools Edward Tyett.

In his next report to the superintendents of the State a portion of the report will be devoted to questions pertaining to the fraternity conditions of their district. These questions the school directors will be called on to answer, in order that it may be known if the statute is enforced in every district.

Communications from teachers asked that the investigation be instituted, as many were of the opinion that in several high schools the fraternities were still active. In the vicinity of Oakland and Alameda where the members of secret societies threatened to test the new law, it is not definitely known how they stand.

FUGITIVE IS PURSUED BEYOND MEXICAN LINE

SAN RAFAEL, Nov. 20.—Daniel Garfield, the sailor of Sausalito who is charged with having committed a fatal attack upon a number of young boys at that place a few months ago, and who forfeited his bonds recently by escaping, has been traced to Mexico by Sheriff William P. Taylor, where it is expected that he will be seized by the pursuing deputy sheriff within the next few days. Garfield was out on $2500 bonds.

CHINN-BERETTA

---The most wonderful maker of artificial eyes in the world will be here next Friday.

—When Herr Kohler, the maker of artificial eyes, concluded his engagement in our San Francisco store he proved every statement we ever made regarding his ability.

—He is a wonderful workman.

—Our experience with him in our San Francisco, Stockton and Sacramento stores has been such that we will go on record here in Oakland as positively and unqualifiedly guaranteeing his work.

—In Stockton he had just finished an eye for a gentleman when our Mr. Beretta entered the store. The gentleman asked Mr. B. what he thought of the eye and Mr. B. had to acknowledge he could not tell which eye was artificial.

—Those who have not seen Herr Kohler's work have absolutely no conception of the wonders of his work.

—His ability to develop motion, vitality and expression are nothing short of marvelous.

—We are now making his engagements. He will be here November 26, 27 and 29.
